General Comment

I want to protect my right, and the right of others, to trade options in a retirement IRA account. It is my freedom to use the same tools that Wall Street uses to invest my money where I see most appropriate for me.

I have taken the time to learn proper options trading and intend to sell covered calls in my IRA account for income and to create portfolio protection, and grow my retirement account safely. The type of options trading that I have learned reduces risk, rather than increases it.

I and anyone else who wishes to do, deserves every retirement savings tool available. Do not restrict the trading of options in Traditional or Roth IRA accounts. It is patently unfair to the American public.
